Day 5: Marbella

After breakfast, departing for an exciting trip to Ronda enjoying a jeep safari....Michelle Obama has stressed visiting Ronda was one of the highlights of her recent trip to Spain – mentioning that she'll be coming back and 'not alone.' Anyone who has been lucky enough to visit Ronda will understand its appeal.

Ronda is one of the most beautiful and visited cities in Spain (the third most visited city in Andalucia). Despite the recent flurry of media activity, Ernest Hemmingway and Orson Welles, who both lived in Ronda at various times, probably gave Ronda its first taste of international recognition. Indeed, Hemmingway declared that Ronda was the most romantic town in Spain.

Surrounded by lush river valleys and sitting above a deep ravine, it is a place that literally takes your breath away when seeing it: was first declared a city by Julius Caesar in the late 4C AD. Is said to be the home of modern day bullfighting. The Real Maestranza bullring is one of the oldest and most picturesque in Spain, built in 1785

It's an exciting way to discover the hidden countryside of Costa del Sol by Jeep.

Lunch will be at Celler La Sangre de Ronda

In the middle of the historic center, in a palace with more than one thousand years of history, the old winery has been transformed into a marvelous museum that you can visit.

Dinner at La Merdiana del Alabardero

Surrounded by a wonderful garden and decorated in art deco style, it is an original place to have a great dinner. Located in Marbella, La Meridiana is the perfect mix of good taste and excellent Mediterranean cuisine.

Day 6: Marbella

Breakfast

Visit to Mijas, called the "white village of Andalucia"

One of the jewels of the Costa del Sol, this beautiful little village which nestles comfortably in the mountainside at 428 meters above sea level.

After a visit along the tiny streets, a tasting awaits you at the Wine Museum of Mijas. This Museum is a lovely old building dating from 1839, known in the village as "The house of light/electricity" as the first transformers for the supply of electricity in the town were here, and it is situated in one of the most photographed streets of Spain.

Restored in 2004, the result is a typical Andalusian house of more than 300 m with a brick facade where all the Málaga wines are available, as well as wines from other regions of Spain. The museum has 2 levels: The lower floor is like a typical Spanish bodega with brick columns and an Andalusian-Moorish-style patio with plants. This floor is totally dedicated to the Andalusian wines and a large collection of antique labels.

A wine tasting, olive oil or ham or cheese tasting will follow.

Visit of Malaga: a briskly modern yet historic city, it still has the atmosphere and swagger of a Mediterranean port. The historic city centre, is charming with its majestic, if peculiar, unfinished Gothic Cathedral surrounded by traditional balconied buildings, narrow pedestrian streets and some of the best tapas bars in the province. In recent years, the city has heavily invested in its culture and heritage with new museums, extensive restoration and a brand-new port development. Málaga is a joy to stroll around, the 11th-century Gibralfaro castle sits grandly and provides the best view of all.

Dinner at Olivia Valere

The palace is of clear Arab influence, with reddish terra-cotta walls that hide to the eyes of the outer world. Imagine to be in the patio of the most luxurious Arab Palace! Continuing the dinner with a DJ session....

Day 7: Marbella - Madrid

Breakfast and transfer to the train station for boarding the speed train to Madrid
At arrival, meet&greet by our staff and transfer to lunch

Lunch at O'Pedregal, specialized in Galician delicacies

Panoramic City tour through the most important areas of the city center, combining the historical areas with the modern ones.

Visit of the Royal Palace: official residence of His Majesty The King of Spain, who makes use of it for official ceremonies, though not residing there. The origins of the Palace go back to the 9th century, during which the Islamic Kingdom of Toledo built a defensive fort on the site, later used by the Kings of Castile. It was on this ancient fortress that the Old Alcazar was constructed in the 16th century.

Check in

Dinner at Posada de la Villa. traditional Castilian food

Protected by the Arab walls, the establishment dates back to 1642, when it started as a guesthouse. The interior of this popular restaurant contains 3 dining rooms, all set against a rustic, 17th century Spanish design.

Day 8: Madrid

Breakfast

Visit of Toledo, A fortified hilltop city surrounded by the Tajo river, one of the most important centers of European medieval history. It was capital of Spain from the Gothic epoch until 1560, fact that explains its really impressive medieval architecture. Walking through its streets one feels like having stepped back into the Middle-Ages, Hardly another town is so well conserved in its historical style.

Lunch at Alfileritos 24

Back to Madrid, time for shopping at Serrano Street (upmarket high street feel) with the ABC Serrano 3-floors shopping mall with some of Europe's most expensive clothing outlets. There are also two branches of El Corte Inglés department store

Dinner at Palacio de Cibeles

Located on the sixth floor of Madrid's Town Hall and offering spectacular views of the Cibeles fountain, the Paseo de la Castellana and the Gran Vía. The beautiful building formerly named "Palacio de Comunicaciones" was completed in 1919 and was Madrid's Main Post Office for about 80-years.

Functional decor, the cuisine combines modern with traditional.

Run by the Grupo Adolfo (Gold Medal for Merit in Tourism 2009 and one of the main gastronomic chains in Spain)
