Royal Baci Ceremony: A traditional baci, or 'Sou Khouan' ceremony, is a brahmin influenced ritual that has been practiced in Luang Prabang for hundreds of years. Locals believe that 32 spirits or khouan inhabit our bodies and protect us from illness, sadness and general malice in everyday life. Their influence works best if all the khouan are working together, but from time to time they need to be re-aligned and perhaps told about an individual's arrival or departure to a new environment. The blessing is a community affair, overseen by a master of ceremonies or 'Mo Phon' who repeats the rhythmic ritual words and chants to the spirits, reminding them of their duties. A tray of floral decorations, candles, baci strings and offerings will be prepared for you.

17/09/2014: Luang Prabang

Breakfast at the hotel

Half day private guided tour around Luang Prabang: We believe one of the best ways to explore Luang Prabang is with a privately guided tour, either on foot or by bicycle that points out notable architectural landmarks and other distinctive attractions in town. You begin the tour at Amantaka, and your first stop is Vat Visoun and Vat Aham. Within their precincts stands the gigantic That Makmo (watermelon stupa), originally known as That Patum or lotus stupa, built in 1503 a.d. You make your way towards mount Phousi, bearing right to follow the Nam Khan river flanked by small vegetable gardens along its banks. After reaching the end of the peninsula, you visit Vat Xieng Thong, Luang Prabang's most famous Wat, known as the "temple of the golden city" and considered the main gateway of the town.

As you walk through the winding streets, you will observe small storefronts preparing rice cakes and homemade paper products before reaching the main artery of the town to visit the golden Buddha at Vat Sene. You continue to Vat Nong and follow the Mekong to the Royal palace which now houses the National museum. commissioned and designed by the french colonial administration and built from 1904-1909, the Palace was host to the crowning of King Sisavangvong in 1904, the last king of Laos. The most important exhibit in the museum is the Pra Bang (golden buddha statue) for which Luang Prabang, (city of the golden Buddha) was named. You end your tour at Vat Mai, one of the grandest and most impressive temples in Luang Prabang with its golden frontage and unique five-tiered red roof, before returning to Amantaka.

Accommodation at Amantaka resort in pool suite.

Breakfast at the hotel

Mekong river Amantaka boat trip to the Pak Ou Caves with refreshments: you will do a leisure cruise along the Mekong river with your private guide to the caves at Pak Ou which pilgrims have been visiting and offering Buddha statues for hundreds of years. On the way back, a picnic option is available. The Tam Ting caves are located in a limestone cliff upriver from Luang Prabang. They are believed to be discovered in the 16th century, and were possibly a centre of spirit worship before. You will stop en route at the 'Lao whisky village' to observe how sticky rice is distilled to become the famous 'Lao Lao'.

You will continue by boat, observe the village life: children playing on the river banks, women doing laundry and men fishing. When you would reach the caves, you will ascend a flight of stairs to see the lower and upper-level limestone rooms filled with thousands of Buddha statues. You will return to town by boat.
